BLAIRMORE WILL STAGE JUBILEE PROGRAMME

Committees are busy on the programme for Monday next, Jubilee Day.

We understand that a parade will open the programme at 10 a.m. At the stadium a patriotic address will be delivered by Mr. F. O. McKenna, of Pincher Creek.

Prizes will be awarded for the best decorated cars and bicycles in the procession.

A general programme of sports will be carried out, including junior baseball.

Refreshment booths will be operated on the grounds.

The I.O.D.E. will stage their Jubilee dance in the Columbus hall at night.

Citizens are requested to put out flags and bunting on Monday, in honor of the King's Jubilee.

The Huntingdon (Quebec) Gleaner, of which Adam L. Sellar, president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, is editor, has been chosen one of the eleven outstanding papers in the United States and Canada.

In the K.P. draw at Hillcrest on Friday night last, the following were major prize winners: Joe Stubbs, Hillcrest, radio, ticket 770; A. T. Richardson, Kimberley, watch, ticket 4055; I. Botzian, Wynyard, Sask., ticket 2093, two dollars; Mrs. D. Mathias, Hillcrest, ticket 1649, two dollars; Jim Price, Hillcrest, ticket 485, two dollars; Joe Atkinson, Hillcrest, ticket 4918, two dollars; Miss A. T. Tarrant, Hillcrest, ticket 1788, two dollars.

B. C. DELEGATION VISIT CORBIN TODAY

A delegation from B. C. points left here at noon today for Corbin to study troubles there. This delegation, headed by Tom Uphill, M.L.A., for East Kootenay, who is acting as spiritual advisor, general father and guide, includes Jack Price, M.L.A., Vancouver; Sam English, Cumberland; J. Ragget, Vancouver; Bill Brathwaite, Vancouver; Jack Stevenson, Burnaby; and Miss H. Gutteridge, Vancouver. Miss Gutteridge is head of the Four-Square Temple and the Garment Workers of Vancouver. The delegation fully enjoyed their stay in Blairmore yesterday and the early part of today. Miss Gutteridge took advantage of the privilege of viewing the Frank slide during her visit. The delegation was to be joined at Crow's Nest by the B.C. minister of mines.

The Blairmore Branch of the B.E. S.L. will hold a Jubilee smoker in their clubrooms on Tuesday night next, at which each member will be privileged to bring a friend. A splendid programme of music, etc., is being arranged.

Recently a surprise vote called in the House at Edmonton nearly defeated the government and disclosed the fact that nineteen members were absent. It is true the odd member may have work to do for his constituency around parliament's offices during the session, but to have a third of the House off skyarking during the discussion on a most important question should give all voters reason for serious thought in picking their men for next term.

His Most Excellent Majesty George Frederick Ernest Albert of Windsor—George the Fifth, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland, and British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India; and Her Majesty Queen Mary.

LUIGI FUMAGALLI PASSES

Following but a few months illness, the death occurred at Hillcrest on Friday morning last of Luigi Fumagalli, brother of Mr. R. Fumagalli, of the Red Trail Motors, Blairmore, at the youthful age of 33.

Mr. Fumagalli was well and very favorably known and highly respected throughout this district, as was evidenced by the great display of floral tributes, mass cards, letters of sympathy, etc., and the great concourse of citizens from all parts of The Pass who attended the funeral on Sunday afternoon, when the remains were laid to rest in the St. Teresa's cemetery, following service in the Catholic church.

In the funeral procession, no less than 115 cars were counted, in addition to which were fully four hundred sympathizing friends on foot.

Mr. Fumagalli is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mary; also a brother, R. Fumagalli, of Blairmore. He was a native of Italy and a member of Turtle Mountain Lodge of the Knights of Pythias, at Hillcrest, the members of which body attended the last sad rites.

With the bereaved The Enterprise extends sincerest sympathy.

MRS. HUGH ROSE

Mrs. Kate Wilson Rose died in Toronto, on February 9th. The daughter of Patrick Wilson, B.A., of Edinburgh, Scotland, she was married to Rev. Hugh Rose, M.A., who was minister at Stockton-on-Tees and at Grosvenor Square, Manchester, before coming to Canada. Mr. Rose was soon called to Knox church, Elora, where he died in 1887, after a brief but noteworthy pastorate, which is marked by a large marble tablet at the church entrance. Mrs. Rose stayed in Elora with her six children. It was no easy task to care for a vigorous family on the allowance from the Widow's and Orphans' fund, but it was done. Very artistic in nature and training, Mrs. Rose did a great deal of work, engraving and illuminating addresses, all such work of the general assembly for many years being hers. In 1911 she moved to Toronto, where for many years she had been a loyal and devout member of Alhambra church. Services were held at the home of her daughter in Toronto, and at Knox Presbyterian church, Elora. The latter was conducted by Rev. E. A. Thompson, minister of Knox church, assisted by Rev. J. Ewing Reid, of Alhambra church, Toronto, and Rev. J. Russell Harris, who had been one of Mrs. Rose's Sunday school scholars. Pall-bearers were members of that same class, which she had taught many years ago. Her six children are still living, and have good reason to call her blessed: Hugh Grosvenor Rose, Toronto; Patrick B. Rose, Edmonton; Mrs. Charles (Kate) Hair, Toronto; Rev. William George Rose, Princeton, Ont.; Dr. G.

MAY DAY MARRED BY STORM

May Day, a day celebrated the world over by labor, was ushered in at Blairmore with one of the biggest snow storms of the season.

Elaborate plans had been made for a demonstration here, but as the special train reached the station from the west at 10:25 a.m., upwards of seven hundred men, women and children were surprised to find themselves wallowing through six to eight inches of new snow.

Despite the inclemency of the weather, however, they decided to grin and bear it, and set out to enjoy themselves if at all possible. The sports programme at the stadium had to be cancelled, but plans were immediately made for other means of entertainment, and as the great crowd craned for the return trip west at 10:30 p.m., all appeared joyful.

In the evening a boxing programme was staged at the Columbus Hall, in which a ten-round bout between "Gentleman" Jack Jones and Bill Matviekin, of Coleman and Blairmore, respectively, was the main feature. This bout, refereed by D. Lewis, went the full time and was declared a draw. Both put up a splendid exhibition of boxing, and in the event of a return engagement would be assured of a good house. Several interesting preliminaries preceded the main bout.

In spite of reports contained in the daily press, to the effect that the miners were to amass five thousand strong in Blairmore and parade on Corbin, that northern district miners and those from Lethbridge were found here on foot, etc., there was not a thought of any such action, as far as is known. Delegations from mining districts of Alberta and British Columbia attended, and availed of the opportunity to get together with those of the district to discuss their various problems.

About ten special constables were employed to work under Chief of Police Fitzpatrick, and perfect order was maintained throughout the day.

The contingent from the west was accompanied by the Michel brass band, which led the procession and rendered enlivening music.

A dance in the Columbus hall at night concluded the day's programme.

Mrs. Nemrava and daughter Frances were Cranbrook visitors, returning with Mrs. Nemrava's brother, John Muska, who will visit at their home—Canal Flat note.

Mr. A. Greig, former manager of the McElaren Lumber Co. here, now of Edmonton, was in the district last week end, and incidentally looked over some of the timber area of the South Fork country. Rumor has it that a company will start development there on a fairly large scale shortly.

Blair Rose, Hillcrest, Alberta; and Miss Helen Rose, Toronto.—J.R.H. in George Rose, Princeton, Ont.; Dr. G.

I.O.D.E. TO STAGE JUBILEE BALL

The grand Silver Jubilee Ball, sponsored by the Crows' Nest Chapter of the I.O.D.E., will take place in the Columbus hall on Monday night, and promises to be the last and best big dance event of the season.

There will be confetti, streamers, balloons, hats, etc. The hall is being suitably decorated, and every detail, no matter how small, is receiving attention. No expense is being spared in staging this big affair. Snappy music by the Arcadians, and a real lunch at midnight will add the final touches to this outstanding event. Prices are also just—gents 75 cents, ladies 50 cents. Dancing 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

This is one dance that will live in your memory when all others are forgotten. You will not only remember the "Silver Jubilee" by it, but also those who were there and the good time you had.

The ladies are anticipating guests from as far as Lethbridge east and Fernie west, and a good time is assured for all.

CORP. MIKE MORIARTY KILLED AT DRUMHELLER

News despatches last week end conveyed the dumb-founded information that Corporal Michael Moriarty, honored member of the R.C.M.P., and formerly stationed in this district, had been killed by a rifle bullet fired by a farmer in the Drumheller district, upon whom he was about to serve a summons.

Moriarty had been on police duty for upwards of twenty-two years. He was unmarried. The remains were shipped to Buffalo, New York, where a brother survives, for burial. His parents reside in Ireland.

Washington State Claim

Matter Of Damages From Sulphur Fumes At Trail, B.C., Nears Settlement

The state department at Washington has announced that a convention for the final settlement of the controversy arising from damage done in the state of Washington by sulphur fumes from a smelter at Trail, B.C., was signed at Ottawa.

The convention, signed by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, for Canada, and by Pierre L. Boal, chargé d'affaires, for the United States, provides for the appointment of a joint arbitration tribunal which will pass on all damage alleged to have been done to Washington forests, crops and livestock, since Jan. 1, 1932.

The tribunal will consist of jurists named by the United States and Canada with a chairman to be appointed by both governments from some neutral country.

The convention must be approved by the United States senate and the Canadian parliament.

State department officials said it would be transmitted to the senate immediately for the earliest possible action.

The convention also provides that the Canadian government will cause to be paid $300,000 for damages up to Jan. 1, 1932, as recommended by the report made by the international joint commission in February, 1931. The tribunal also is expected to make recommendations for the installation of fume elimination apparatus or other measures to prevent future damage.

Mosquitoes Always Were

Specimen Preserved In Amber From 600 B.C. Period

In the year 600 B.C. mosquitoes apparently were just as annoying as the modern species, if size is any indication. A mosquito whose proportions are larger than those of its average present-day descendant is preserved in pure amber owned by H. C. Page, Saint John.

Geologists estimate the insect was entombed more than 2,500 years ago. The neatly cut piece of amber, crystal-clear, preserved the mosquito perfectly, including even the fibrous hairs on its body and legs.

Amber, a solidified refinement of tree balsam, is found mostly in the bituminous fossils of timber along the shores of the Baltic and other parts of maritime Europe, Page said. The jewel in his possession came from the northern coast of Russia, where vast areas were under water for centuries.

YOUR HANDWRITING REVEALS YOUR CHARACTER!

By LAWRENCE HIBBERT (Grapho-Analyst)
(All Rights Reserved)

Here are some replies to letters received from readers. Others will find them interesting, too, as showing just what Graphology can do for you.

Miss B.L.: You are inclined to be somewhat highly-strung, and are apt to get easily excited when things do not go just as you would like. This is not a weakness in the ordinary sense of the word; it is more a temperamental disadvantage, brought about because you are so away by your feelings. You are so quick to feel joys and sorrows, and will probably suffer a good deal as a result.

Yours is not a nature that would find nursing a very suitable occupation, and it is fortunate that you recognized this and discontinued your training. The ideal nurse needs to be well-controlled, able to "keep her head" in emergencies, and at the same time to be sympathetic and kindly. You do have the latter traits, but certainly would not show at your best during tense moments.

You are independent, in the sense that you are chary of accepting the help of others. And you have a good regard for order and neatness, and are careful about details. All in all, you should do fairly well at your office work, and be far happier than in the occupation of nursing.

Mr. A.G.T.: You have a fairly normal nature, with a slight leaning toward ardour, but are not at all intensely emotional. Your sense of judgment is well to the fore, and will, as a rule, not be swayed from doing anything too impulsively.

You are, perhaps, too prone to view the future a little cynically, without the faith and ambition that a young man like you should have. Be more definitely ambitious; make your plans for the future, and show to brass tactics to try and realise them.

Miss P.A.D.: It seems to me that most of your trouble has been traced to the changeable nature that you have. You fit too readily from one thing to another, and don't succeed in any of them because you don't devote sufficient energy and concentration. You vary in your moods and the result is that no sooner have you become interested in one particular thing than something else turns up to distract your attention and interest temporarily. I am writing you direct, because it is essential that you adopt a more definite course to follow in order to make any real and lasting progress in the future.

Do you want to know what your handwriting tells about your character? And to find the real truth about your friends? Send specimens of the handwriting you want analysed, stating birthdate in each case. Send 10¢ for each specimen, and enclose with 3¢ stamped addressed envelope, to: Lawrence Hibbert, care of Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 115 McDermott Ave., Winnipeg, Man. All letters will be treated confidentially, and replies will be mailed as quickly as possible. Please allow about two weeks for your reply, due to the volume of mail that is coming in.

Seagram Gold Cup Golf Tournament

Professional Teams From United States And Japan Will Compete

Word has been received from George R. Jacobus, President of the United States Professional Golfers' Association, that he will select the captains from the foreign-born and native-born teams of United States professionals which will compete in the $4,000 General Brook Hotel Open Golf Tournament, which is to be played at the Look-out Point Country Club at Fonthill, Ont., on July 11, 12, and 13.

The United States amateur teams will choose their own captains from among their numbers. Similar arrangements will also be in vogue with the Canadian teams.

The first professional team entry for the Seagram Gold Cup, emblematic of this six-man team championship, has been received from the Japanese Golf Association and includes: Tomokichi Miyamoto of the Ibaragi Golf Club, Kyoto, present Japanese professional champion; Selsu Chin of the Musashino Country Club, and Ryokuzo Asami of the Hodegaya Country Club, Yokohama, both former champions; Toshiro Teda of the Hirono Golf Club, Kobe; Kokichi Yasuda of the Tokio Golf Club; Kenkichi Nakamura of the Fujiwara Country Club, and Yutaka Kasama, secretary of the J.G.A., who is accompanying the team as manager. It is confidently expected that at least ten teams will be entered in this competition.

Great Britain Mobilizing Civilians In Preparation For Attacks

Great Britain is quietly mobilizing her civilian forces for defence against gas and bombing attacks, it was disclosed when Colonel E. M. Cowell, director of the British Red Cross in Surrey, appealed for 1,000 men and women for volunteer first aid nursing work at Croydon airport.

More than 500 have already been recruited and trained under auspices of the Red Cross, its officials said.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON MAY 5

SIN, REPENTANCE, AND FAITH

Golden text: If we confess our sins, he is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness. Devotional reading: Psalm 51:1-10.

Explanations And Comments

Great Sin, Luke 15:11-13. At the demand of the younger of two sons, a father divided between the two his estate. The younger son's portion would be one-third; that of the older, two-thirds. The prodigal, as we call him, had long been chafing under the restrictions of home and at once set out for "a far country"—a place where he could "live his own life."

There he wasted his substance in riotous living. He had no recklessness. He came a spendthrift and a reprobate.

Great Resolve, Luke 15:17-19. "I have sinned against heaven and in thy sight. Moses had wrought into the warp and woof of Jewish conscience the conviction that sin was a crime against the Eternal, and the Psalmists had invested this view with singular pathos. It mattered not what wrong a man did; it was in the last issue the heart of God he touched. And only God could loose him from the intolerable burden of guilt. Sin was not only the transgression of a law written on the conscience, it was a personal offense against the divine love. Jewish penitence therefore was very tender and humble. Against guilt, they only have 'I sinned.' Jesus, in his monograph on sin, incorporates this discovery when he makes the prodigal say, 'Father, I have sinned against heaven and in thy sight.'" (Ian MacLaren).

And he arose and came to his father's house. Great Forgiveness, 15:20-24. His father's love is far greater than he has dreamed. While he is yet afar off his father sees him and is moved with compassion and runs to meet him.

The prodigal began his confession, but he did not say anything about being made a hired servant, for his father would not let him finish. What did the father know that the first thing to do was to give back his son's respect, to clothe him as a son, and calling his servants he bade them bring the best robe, put a ring on his hand, the symbol of position and honor, and shoes on his feet, which slaves never wear.

There remained only to kill the old calf and make merry, "for my son was dead, and he is alive again; he was lost, and is found," the happy father exclaimed.

GARDENING

Gordon L. Smith

Screening

Growing screens offer a solution to things which are better hidden. The straight lines of a residence should be broken by a few bushes and vines. These growing screens are divided into two classes, annual climbers and tall plants which of course must be renewed each year, and perennial creepers and shrubs or trees. The latter are permanent but take more time to produce and may be supplemented the first year or two with annuals. The annuals, instead, have the advantage of speed, in a month or two they are performing their duty of shutting off an objectionable view or screening the noon day sun from the veranda, and the very fact that they are there for one year only, allows an opportunity for change, and changing things about is one of the fascinations of gardening. Of the annual plants, African Marigolds, Cosmos, Ornamental Sunflowers, Larkspurs, Castor Beans, and other bushy, fairly tall plants will make satisfactory screens by early July. Among the annual climbers are Morning Glories, Nasturtiums, Sweet Peas, Hops, Scarlet Runner Beans, Cosmos, Gourds, Climbing Cucumber and Canary Bird Vines.

Grow Vegetables Quickly

If vegetables are to be tender, they must be grown quickly. Especially with such things as radish, carrots and beets, slow growth is disastrous as the roots become woody and filled with objectionable fibres. But this rule also applies to leafy materials like lettuce. Therefore, growth should be pushed along with frequent cultivation, which in addition to checking weeds, also conserves moisture. Cultivation alone will often keep the vegetables going through a dry spell, but a few pails of water or an hour or two with the hose at such a time, will keep the plants from wilting. Water is not large, plant those things, most in need of extra moisture, such as radish, lettuce and celery, closest to the pump. Fertilizer is another way of hurrying growth and therefore assuring vegetables of the highest quality.

Planting

Flowers divide themselves into main planting groups. The first to be sown are those very hardy kinds which naturally reproduce themselves in Canada. Cosmos, California Poppy, Alyssum, Calendula and Candytuft are very hardy and can be sown first thing in the spring. In the second group are the Zinnia, Marigold, Nasturtium, Stocks, Anemone and Petunia, which do not stand serious frost, and of the tender things, such as radish, lettuce and celery, closest to the pump. Fertilizer is another way of hurrying growth and therefore assuring vegetables of the highest quality.

Aid For Passengers

Time Table Is Produced By Prestina.

An invention recently installed in the Victoria Station in London allows the railway passenger to press a button and produce at the instrument's illuminated window a time table for the station desired. Each station numbered; pressing the correspondingly numbered key brings a printed card into view bearing the complete schedule of trains between Victoria and the station in question. Similar machines are to be installed at all the principal stations on the Southern Railway, the London Times reports.—New York Bureau.

Boy Scout Resourcefulness

Old toys, old clothes, old shoes, old furniture are frequently called for by Boy Scouts in their welfare work. It remained for Oxford Scouts to spring a new one. They were asked to be Roman soldiers in a pageant. Having the Scout reputation for resourcefulness, they were requested to provide their own Roman helmets. The answer: 100 old bowler hats, minus rims, plus 1 gallon aluminum.

A new industry, making artificial leather from wool, has sprung up in England.

"Where'd you bury him?" asked Stone shortly.

"Over there. . . Our fire was there. . . His finger pointed to a dip in the land. The drifting sand had filled the hollow and at first Stone did not recognize the place. 'I was asleep there. . . ' Peyotl pointed. . . 'Next thing I knowed Mst' Sam waked me up and I seen. . . ' It. . . We buried him over by that clump o' mesquite.

Stone flung him aside and walked over to the pile of loose rocks. How much of this fantastic tale was true; how much the phantasm of a disordered mind?

He threw those rocks aside as a boy throws pebbles and he was breathless when he saw what he saw. . . some tattered rags and a scrap of old leather that the coyotes had left. There were signs there that but the desert wind and the sun and the scouring winds had done their work and he uncovered only a handful of sand-scoured bones to tell whether Peyotl carried and lied or not. His hand hung poised over the skull that, for reasons, he hated to touch. But that skull was vital. If Peyotl told the truth that skull would be shattered.

He glanced at Peyotl, but Peyotl had got out of his dope again and was obvious as a white flag. That picked up that repulsive skull and examined it carefully. If Peyotl had killed this man by smashing his head with a rock then the bones would be broken. But the skull was intact! Not till he turned it over, about to cast it aside, did he see a gaping hole in the back. Then he heard the "chink-chink" of some solid object inside it. Doubtless it was a pebble that had worked its way inside the skull. He turned the gruesome object over and over in his hands. Then something dropped at his feet with a soft thud and, glancing at it, he dropped the skull with a sharp oath. There, lying between his feet, flattened as to the point, lay a score of green veridigris, lay a forty-one caliber soft lead bullet!

With a quick lift his gasping oath, he picked it up and fitted it to the hole in the back of the skull. It fitted! There was no doubt about it. The man had died, not from having his head smashed with a rock but from a bullet shot through the back of his head at very close range.

He replaced all the bones except the skull, repiled the rocks and went back to the horses where Peyotl sat crouching against the wind.

"This man was shot with a forty-one caliber gun," he said.

Peyotl stared at him dully and Stone angled at his stupidity, kicked him.

"This man. . . If it's Kane. . . How'd I know it's Kane?" he said.

"Look at his shoes," said Peyotl with a flash of intelligence. "He slipped 'K' on the heel in iron tracks."

After long search Stone found one shoe and came back satisfied.

"Where'd you get that gun from that you shot Kane with?" he asked. At that Peyotl came to life.

"I never had a gun in my life," he said. "But when I took the gun from Mst' Sam. . . ' You got that?"

"Yes, Sheriff Garcey's got it now. Who did that gun belong to?"

"I told you I lifted it from Mst' Sam. . . "

"And he was with you up here when. . . when Kane was killed?"

"Yes," said Peyotl. "I knowed Stone stood and stared at him. He could hardly believe what he knew to be true. He turned to his pony, reset the saddle and whirled on Peyotl:

"Get into saddle at once," he snapped. "We're goin' back at once!"

CHAPTER XVIII.

Dustin's summary arrest galvanized Seco. Men gathered before every store discussing it and questioning for details. For five years Seco's dust and clockwork had been considered immune to arrest and now Jim Garcey had taken him as casually as he might have taken any common brawler and no man knew exactly why. He met Dustin outside the Broken Spur and together they went on the arm as Dustin stopped Doc Epps to question him about the reported death of Gerald Keene.

"I've got a warrant for your arrest, Dustin," he said. "The charge is open violation of the Narcotic Act."

"What?" Dustin spun about and his eyes met Mst' Sam. "You're arrestin' me? You're crazy, Sheriff."

"Mebbe. That's got nothin' to do with the matter. The question is. . . are you comin' with me or do I have to take you?"

There was a light in Jim Garcey's eyes that spoke more plainly than any words. Dustin made up his mind at once.

"I'll come with you of course. This is absurd. Who's sworn out the warrant?"

"A man named Stone from the Hour-glass. He swore he found you with your pockets stuffed with peyotl cigarettes and Peyotl Gregg says you've kept him supplied for years."

"The. . . the lyn' hound. . . " Dustin burst into a torrent of invective. "You mean to tell me that you're arrestin' me, a well-known citizen here, on such an absurd charge? I want to see a lawyer first of all."

"First of all, you'll come with me," said Garcey who knew that, with Dustin's open lack of nerve, he would keep him uncommunicated for some time.

There was no help for it and Jim Garcey, mindful of details, did not offer Dustin the hospitality of his house as he had done with Carr. He conducted his prisoner to the only locked up in Seco and locked him into the big steel cage behind his office with injunctions to his deputy to allow him to see no one except under special instructions.

"You're all right for the night," he said. "Water, grub'll be supplied from the Bon Ton restaurant, two books and a paper. I'll tell Bill Masters that you want to see him. He's your attorney, ain't he? By the way, Dustin. . . You might be doin' some little figurin' on your own account. The penalty for murder in this State is hangin'. Cattle-rustlin' an' bein' accessory before the act in a shootin' case carries a stiff sentence too. . . "

With this Partisan arrow Garcey left and Dustin, appalled, stared after him. What could the man know? The very uncertainty brought the sweat to his forehead in great beads. Surely he had covered his tracks too well to have been discovered. What Garcey had said must be just a shot in the dark? He could know nothing. Even if Peyotl Gregg had told all he knew, no jury would convict a man on the testimony of one witness and that witness a drug-addict. For the charge on which he was arrested Dustin knew he would be free in a short time.

But Sam Dustin failed to remember that the day was Saturday and that Monday was May the thirtieth, a National holiday and that all offices would be closed. That three-day period gave Stone all the time he needed but it was late when he rode up Seco's main street, tired and dirty, with Peyotl sulking at his heels and scared to death. Jameson espied them first and fairly dragged Stone to his office.

"Well. . . " said Jameson quivering with excitement.

"I got enough to convict any man before a fair-minded jury," said Stone. "Has Garcey arrested Dustin?"

"He nailed him Saturday night," said Jameson. "He'll be held a while. Dustin's squealer 'like a stuck pig over what he aims to do when he gets loose and Spike Goddard is threatenin' to secede from the Union if Garcey don't turn Dustin loose tomorrow. You'd better look out for Dustin when he gets loose."

"He'll not get loose," said Stone. "Listen to me, Jameson. . . " And Stone told him all that had taken place and wound up by laying Kane's old shoes and the shattered skull on the desk. At sight of the skull the little editor shrank back.

"Take that thing out o' here," said he. "I got no use for it."

"You might have use for it editin' the paper," grinned Stone. "Wait a bit, old man. I'm convinced that Dustin killed Kane. We know the motive. Kane took Dustin into the hills to show him the gold mine that he found on Hour-glass lands. Dustin said he wanted to divide with Kane so he killed him and laid the blame cleverly on that poor fool Gregg. If he'd killed Kane with that rock that he smeared with his blood, we'd never have discovered it. But he didn't. He shot him. Here's the bullet that smashed his skull. Of course we've got to show that Peyotl told the truth when he said he got the gun from Dustin when he shot Kane. Get your car and we'll run out to the Broken Spur and see if we can get Goddard to talk. If he doesn't know how much we really know, he may drop something. Get Jim Garcey too. We'll need him."

That machine slammed its way up the drive before the Broken Spur just before sunset and Spike Goddard received them with grim looks. He eyed the shrinking Peyotl menacingly though he was inwardly ill at ease. How much did these men know? What had they come for? But he ushered them into the little office and Stone played the first card.

He slapped the Derringer pistol on the desk and turned to Peyotl.

"Tell Sheriff Garcey exactly where you took this pistol from!" he said. And before Spike Goddard could stop him, Peyotl jerked open the desk drawer.

"He kept it there," he said; "he opened it himself and showed it to me and told me about Mr. Kane. . . Whatever his name is. . . Here's the green box o' cartridges! I only took three of 'em. . . "

Spike knocked him aside angrily and turned on Jameson.

"You can't come this game on me without a search warrant," said he truculently. "Get to hell out o' here every one of you."

But the damage was done and Spike knew it. The ownership of that Derringer was established. His furious gaze swung to Stone who said curtly:

"It's lucky for you, Goddard, that your partner has not implicated you in what he's done. He killed old man Kane and put the blame on that poor fool Peyotl. He drove Peyotl to shoot Kane in the Silver Dollar too. It's a big price to pay for a ranch, even as good as the Hour-glass with a gold-mine on it. Two men killed over a ranch. . . "

"It was over that damned red-headed girl of Carr's," said Goddard hotly. "I told him he was playin' the damned fool. . . I told him he was as hell trip him. . . "

Appalled at the significance of his thoughts when he stood aghast at it was too late. Stone and Garcey knew him back all heard what he said and knew its dread significance. Garcey swung on him at once.

"I'll just nail you as an accessory before the fact," he said. "You'll come with me."

And before Spike Goddard knew what was happening, Garcey slipped a pair of light manacles about his wrists. The feel of the cold steel and the click of the lock struck a chill to the heart of the ranchman. He sank into a chair and burst into shell-volant profanity.

"Be careful what you say," warned Garcey. "It may be used against you."

"You've got nothin' on me," snarled Goddard. "I'm not mixed up in this at all."

Honors For Rudyard Kipling

Now Approaching His 70th Birthday,
His Name May Appear In Jubilee List

To Rudyard Kipling, often referred to as "the forgotten man of English letters," may come at last some measure of official homage which his legion of admirers has thought is long overdue.

Now approaching his 70th birthday, the writer is being mentioned as an almost certain recipient of garlands from the king's jubilee honors list.

Strong representations, it is understood, have been made in behalf of the "soldier's poet," who was the first Englishman to receive the Nobel prize for poetry almost 30 years ago. Although his famous "Recessional" was chosen to be read at Queen Victoria's second jubilee in 1897, he has been given no official part on the program of celebrations this year of King George's 25 years on the throne.

SO WOULD I LIVE

The kitten frolicked on the floor,
And purred and stretched and played,
And stretched a silken paw to catch
A leaf of shade.

He was a thing of matchless grace;
Life's pulsing, vibrant toy,
His every movement, every breath
Was full of joy.

For him the now was all, he knew
The moment, nothing more;
All time to come meant naught, nor all

Time gone before.
So would I live, so would I lose
The thought of days to be
Or of days past. My universe
A shadow tree!

From Out Of The Past

Find Skeletons Of Human Belongs
Believed To Have Belonged To Medieval Times

Several skeletons of human bones, believed to have belonged to medieval times, have been found near Newbury, England. The bones were discovered two feet below the surface and the positions show that the bodies were buried with their heads to the east. The spot is near a building known as "The Litten," on the site of which at one time was the priory of St. Bartholomew, and attached to it was a chapel, part of which, still stands.

Little Helps For This Week

Consider the lilies of the field how they grow. Matthew 6:28.

They do not toil; Content with their allotted task They do but grow; they do not ask A richer lot, a higher sphere, But in their loveliness appear, And grow and smile, and do their best, And unto God they leave the rest.

Interpose no barrier to His life-giving power, working in you all the good pleasure of His will. Yield yourself up utterly to His sweet control. Put your growing into His hands as completely as you have put all your other affairs. Suffer Him to manage it as He will. Do not concern yourself about it, nor even think of it. Trust Him absolutely and always. Accept each moment's dispensation as it comes to you from His dear hands as being the needed sunshine or dew for that moment's growth. Say a continual "yes" to your Father's will. Look at the flowers in the serene summer days, they quietly open their petals and the sun shines into them with its gentle influence. So will God do for thee if thou wilt yield thyself to Him.

Will Officiate As Warden

John Buchan To Participate At Celebrations At Neidpath Castle

John Buchan, Canada's next governor-general, has accepted an invitation to officiate as warden of Neidpath castle at celebrations at the historic stronghold next June. Neidpath castle is the border fortress where Mary, Queen of Scots, spent the night of August 27, 1563. It is situated in the romantic district where Buchan drew his inspiration for his first book, "John Burnet of Barns." The functions in connection with the royal jubilee are slated for June 19.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Lethbridge Herald says: "Miners and police clashed last week at Corbin, ostensibly the result of a strike, but in reality because the market for coal is at such low ebb that the miners have been getting pitifully little work. Had there been a good coal market, which would have kept the men steadily at work, we doubt if there would have been any trouble."

For a paper that is located only a short distance from Corbin, the Herald shows a lamentable ignorance. Corbin was the one coal company in B.C. that was working practically full time, and the men were making good wages. It is the editor of the Herald that made a study of Communist efforts, he would know that their keener work is done where a camp is in full operation. Witness the Estevan trouble a few years ago. While every other town in Saskatchewan was suffering from the depression and drought that little town was the one bright spot, its miners working full time on orders for the Manitoba market. Through Communist efforts they were drawn into the serious trouble that followed. The same efforts have been used in Corbin, as Tom Uphill proudly said—the best camp in the west—and now the men there have been idle for three months.

A similar effort was made in Michel, another camp that was working fairly good time, but owing to a determined opposition within the union their effort was defeated.

The Communist program is always to create trouble where the men are more or less satisfied. Their main idea is to create a revolution and they believe this end will be reached more quickly if the working camps are made dissatisfied.—Ferne Free Press.

ON MUZZLING THE PRESS

In the attempted muzzling of the press the government has merely brought on themselves the horse laugh. We are surprised even that the opposition put up as good a fight as they did to save the day—the very people who sponsored the idea and put through the legislation will be the first to scold down the back alley and say the first paper in from another source. The first idea of muzzling the press came with the fear of exposure and an attempt to fit the muzzle was made in the session of 1934. It failed in its purpose, however, and the daily press brought a realization of existing practices before the public which could not have been conceived or believed in any other way.

The government now, at this late hour, puts on a pious face and says "We Must Prohibit the Publication of Salacious Matter," and forthwith passes a bill that is an insult to the press of Alberta. Companioned with the government in this move is an organization of women, whose sensibilities were quite properly shocked with the disclosures encountered in 1934, but in lending their aid to secrecy they are merely foiling their objective and encouraging the contemptible practices exposed. It were better far were they to strike at the root of the evil, require of our statesmen a standard of respectability regarding the decencies of life, and remember that it takes strength of character, rather than a desire for salacious literature, to place prosecutions before the public. It takes more than ordinary strength of character, too, to place all prosecutions where they are due, or else, in all probability, there would be more of them. Both public and prirate interests should be able to withstand the scrutiny of the press or any other challenge that may be put upon them. "Salacious Matter!" What hypocrisy! What flagrant inconsistency! The United Farmer, incorporating the U.F.A., official organ of the government, published every Friday, has been outstanding in the practice of publishing salacious advertising—advertising that is illegal, but has gone on and on unchanged by the administration of the law.

Notwithstanding, Mr. Shields, M.L.A. of Macleod, is reported as having said, "If the house wishes to introduce a resolution dealing with advertising, I will support it. It is said that the U.F.A. paper has been accused of this advertising. The North-western Farmer, Calgary paper, also carries it. They also appeared in the Western Producer—and every weekly. If it does not comply with the law, we will immediately take steps to correct that situation, etc., etc."

The unparliamentary language of Mayor Clarke, of Edmonton, is about the only fitting remark that could be made to such a statement. The Echo files are open for inspection and give the lie to such an assertion, as are, undoubtedly, the files of the weekly press of Alberta. Certain class publications may or may not have accepted such advertising—we are only positive concerning The United Farmer, and the Farm and Ranch Review. All advertising of an undesirable nature, including salacious, matrimonial bureau, send your time, send your $, etc., etc., has consistently been refused by the Echo and advertising contracts carry the clause "Advertising copy subject to the approval of the Editor." Mr. Shields, if correctly reported, at least, must be said to be either uninformed or misinformed.—Pincher Creek Echo.

LIBEL AND SLANDER ACT

It seems fair to state that the inspiration behind the new libel and slander act passed by the U.F.A. government was revenge against certain Alberta papers; which for the past year or so have been printing in great detail accounts of the McPherson and Brownlee trials. In our opinion, some of the daily newspapers of the province went entirely too far in giving reports of these matters, and particularly of the Brownlee trial. The stuff that appeared for the public to read was disgraceful in its lewdness.

The Bible class will meet every Thursday in the church at 7.30 p.m. Everyone welcome.

There never was any need for such a display of vulgarity. But in attempting punitive measures, the government has gone too far.

On the whole, the press of the province, and particularly the rural newspapers, have been very fair to the government. Where credit was due it was generally given. Policies of censoring criticism have been the exception and all this in spite of the most miserably treatment of the rural papers by the provincial government. Actually the provincial treasurer has bragged about the excessive economies in the way of advertising in Alberta newspapers, and at the same time various departments of the government have, over the years, been industriously flooding the weekly newspaper offices with notices of government business which they wanted printed free of charge.—Hanna Herald.

THE PARLIAMENTARY SHOW
(By J. S. Cowper)

The fifth and last session of Alberta's seventh legislature prorogued last Wednesday and a general election announcement may be expected at any time.

For fifty-two days the members sat in session, facing an enormous grist of resolutions and bills that kept coming down till the very last day, when the House amended the Dairy-men's Act to license cars carrying cream to creameries, prohibiting the carriage of cream in any but licensed cars.

The question of redistribution rent the House on the last day. D. M. Duggan, Conservative leader, wanted the number of members in the next House cut from 63 down to 34. Mr. Shields, U.F.A. of Macleod, wanted it cut down to 20 members elected at large. Mr. W. R. Howson, Liberal leader, met the situation with an amendment calling for "a substantial reduction" in the number of members. The Howson amendment came near to passing, being defeated by a vote of 27 to 21.

Premier Reid led the attack against any reduction of the membership at the present time. After a hot debate, the U.F.A. majority, behind Premier Reid succeeded in defeating the resolutions and amendments offered by Messrs. Duggan, Shields and Howson. So the coming general election will be for the same number of seats with the same electoral boundaries as at the last general election.

The Shields resolution also asked for a special fall session to put through redistribution, members to receive a per diem allowance for the proposed fall session. The defeat of this resolution is taken to mean that the general election will not be deferred after late June or early July.

Most sensational of all legislation passed by the government in its dying days were the two bills to muzzle the press of Alberta. Following a heated debate, in which it was charged that the measures are aimed at preventing, during the election period, reports of the appeal proceedings in the McPherson divorce suit and the Brownlee seduction suit, Attorney General Lynburn compromised by amending the bills to exempt reports of all lawsuits in progress at the time the bills were passed.

It was urged by W. R. Howson, K.C., Hugh Farthing, K.C., and other legal members, that report of the Privy Council decision in the McPherson suit is vital, as it will settle the question whether divorces can be granted in Alberta in suits tried during non-hour recess in judges' rooms, to which the public is refused access. As the law at present stands the Appeal Court of Alberta holds that such a hearing is a public one.

The new laws, more drastic than any in any part of the British Empire, impose penalties of $5,000.00 on a paper-owned by a corporation and fines of $1,000.00 each on the publisher, owner, editors and writers who publish statements of claims in civil actions, or reports of injunctions obtained ex parte before a judge in chambers, or anything but a bare outline of the proceedings in civil actions and matrimonial suits. News-dealers who handle papers which contain any prohibited matter are also liable to fines of $1,000.00.

Before the Legislature went out of existence, the U.F.A. government voted down the resolution of Liberal member Hugh J. Montgomery to sell the fleet of autos purchased for the use of ministers. He said these are used for social and political purposes, and it would be cheaper and fairer to follow the example of Ontario and Saskatchewan and allow the ministers mileage at the same rate as civil servants for the use of their own cars.

The resolution of Joseph M. Dechene, Liberal of St. Paul, to start a "work and wages" programme was amended out of recognition by the government forces. However, they allowed this resolution to pass advocating the adoption of a policy that would restore and maintain "the hopes, courage, faith, confidence and respect of the youth of Alberta." He managed also to secure endorsement of a resolution in favor of crop insurance.

The government defeated a Teachers' Bill, designed to give teachers the security of professional standing in their work. For this they were criticised at the Teacher's Convention at Edmonton last week.

New provincial voters lists will be used in the coming election, as the government voted down a proposal of Hugh J. Montgomery (Liberal) that the new voters list of the Dominion government be used, thereby saving the cost of a special enumeration.

Following the prorogation of the Legislature, W. R. Howson, K.C., Liberal leader left for Calgary to attend at convention of Young Liberals of Alberta. He will make a tour of the southern nominating conventions and address meetings in the southern constituencies.

In the week of May 12th, Mr. Howson will commence a tour of the northern constituencies. In the coming campaign the Liberals, it is said, will have a candidate in every constituency.

Many changes are inevitable in the next Legislature. Among those who failed to secure re-nomination are Speaker G. N. Johnston, U.F.A. member for Coronation, and Rudolf Hennig, U.F.A. member for Clover Bar, Fred J. White, Labor leader of Calgary, is not offering himself for re-election, but will run in the federal election for East Calgary.

Stopping for a moment to listen to a street hawker selling his wares, writes a correspondent, I heard the tale of a wonderful horse. The hawker explained that he had been at the Grand National race, but not to back horses. Next year, however, he would certainly back a horse, he would back one from Fife. The owner of that horse, impressed by his powers as a jumper, invited a well-known trainer from England to come and see it. A jump ten feet high was cleared by the horse with an easy grace. Three feet were added to the height, and the horse sailed over—three more feet and the result was the same! "That'll do," said the trainer, "we'll take him to England and train him for the Grand National." It was decided to bring the horse over by the Ferry, and when the animal saw the Forth Bridge he pricked up his ears and pranced about expectantly, but was quietened by his owner's remark—"We go under, you fool, not over!" The narration of the story, I observed, was good for business.

New territory in the Canadian Rockies will be opened this year by the Sky-Line Trail Riders and Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, two societies whose members come from all over the world to enjoy these splendid recreations. On foot and on horseback, they set out from the Canadian Pacific Banff Springs Hotel to conquer the mountains—not just to climb them, but to capture their beauty with camera, to erect friendly, cheerful camps on their heights, and to carry away from their wooded slopes health and pleasant recollections. The official Sky-Line Trail Hike, from the second of August to the fifth, will follow part of the trail taken through the Rockies in 1841 by Sir George Simpson, governor of the Hudson's Bay Company.

It is planned to motor from Banff Springs Hotel to the game warden's cabin on Healy Creek on August 2, hiking to the Canadian Pacific cabin, the Sunshine Camp, the first day. In the second day Simpson Pass will be crossed and the second camp made at one of the Egypt Lakes, near Mummy and Scarab Lake. The third night will be spent at Shadow Lake and the final For-wow will be at Castle Mountain Camp on the Banff-Windermere Road after which buses will be available for those who wish to go to Banff. The whole distance will be about 38 miles.

The official five-day trip of the Trail Riders is from July 36 to 30 and this year takes in the Red Deer River, former famous hunting ground but now included in the Banff National Park, which limits all hunting to cameras. The trout fishing is excellent and ample time will be set aside for fishermen, while the others in the party will take pleasant side trips. The party will motor about 11 miles from Banff to the crossing of the Cascade where horses will be waiting. The first camp, used for two nights, will be somewhere near Windy Camp. They then ride over Snow Creek Pass to Scotch Cabin on the Red Deer and turn west to the second Camp. The trail will follow the Red Deer to its source, and turn south to Baker Lake and Parnigan Valley. The fifth day's ride is to the Sun Dance Lodge near Lake Louise Station, for the Pow-Wow.

Your Boys

I have four sons, two of them approaching the age when they must go out and face the exigencies of a living, writes a man to a newspaper. He is disturbed and troubled over the prospect of the difficulties which for the time being may confront these young men in obtaining employment and making a start in life? No, he is wise enough and has had experience enough to realize that countless thousands of other young men starting to carve out careers for themselves had to face difficulties and had many obstacles to overcome. No doubt he passed through such experiences himself. It has been the way of the world since time immemorial.

Nevertheless this father of four boys is worried. He has reason to be, and so, too, have other parents all over the land. This man writes that all this recent propaganda, these ever repeated demands, that the government should guarantee "the security of the home, the security of livelihood and the security of social insurance" causes him to wonder if the prospect of so much sheltering, so much safeguarding, so much financial protection, so much paternalism will cause his boys to discount, disregard, despise his teachings.

I have, he says, tried to impress upon them that they must fit themselves to make their own way in the world, that they must develop self-reliance, that they must cultivate a spirit of manly independence, that they must be prepared to earn every penny coming to them, that they must expect nothing for nothing in this world.

To achieve this, I have emphasized that they must be studious and industrious, that they must exercise rational frugality and self-denial until they have accumulated a competency, that they must aspire not only to take care of themselves and their dependents, but to acquire means to aid generously those who are in need.

I have warned them against extravagance, ostentation, thriftlessness, thoughtlessness, in order that they may escape the hardships and humiliations which befall so many in old age, explaining that it is infinitely better to be able to bestow charity than to be compelled to accept it.

"Don't let any professor convince you," I tell them, "that 'the world owes you a living.' Get it firmly into your head that it is up to you to fit yourself to earn a living and that you will encounter plenty of competition. Don't hesitate to sacrifice in the fore part of your life if you hope to fare well in the latter part of your life. Rainy days will come. Make diligent provision for them."

I tell them that, going forth in this spirit, eager to put more into the world than they hope to take out of it, and possessing unshakable faith in the eternal laws of justice and righteousness, they will find life joyous, they will accept difficulties as a challenge to their manhood, that, doing the right, they will never be tempted to give way to despair, but will find their own life increasing in happiness and service with the passing years.

Above all, that they must not be drones, loafers, leeches; that they must exert themselves to the utmost to be useful; that through self-discipline and self-denial they may reasonably hope to earn the means to practice generosity and usefulness.

Now, however, there is dangled before them the prospect of an earthly Utopia, ruled by a Santa Claus Government, pictured as prepared to shoulder responsibilities which I was taught could be and must be discharged only by each individual for himself, responsibilities which were portrayed not only as inescapable, but as essential to the development of sturdy manhood, development of the soul, development of sterling character.

I am somewhat troubled lest my own young men and other young men may impute the notion that heretofore there is to be less need for supreme effort, less need for self-denial and self-discipline, less need for sacrifice to save, less necessity for self-reliance, less occasion to worry over finding work to do in the world or to sweat to perform it unaided, less reason for systematically striving to provide for old age.

Perhaps this man is unduly concerned about the effect which all the loose talk of to-day about taking no thought of the future—that the Government will look after everybody at all times and under all possible acts of circumstances—is having on the youth of the country. Possibly his anxieties and questionings will prove wholly unwarranted. Let it be hoped so for his sake, and the sake of his four boys and of all other young men who may be tempted to disregard the teachings, the lessons and experiences of past generations and, throwing self-reliance and self-effort to the winds, become leechers on the state.

Nevertheless, all thoughtful and conscientious fathers and mothers must be perturbed as they witness the outpourings of dreamers and faddists preaching false doctrines and seeking to wean the young people of to-day away from acceptance of and belief in those cardinal qualities which constituted the character of the men and women who have left their impress on the life and progress of the world, and lived useful lives. The worst enemies of youth are those self-appointed advocates and saviours who present to them as ideal a life of absolute contentment and leisure, free of personal responsibilities, free of worry, free of difficulties, with Governments playing the role of Santa Claus every week and month of the year.

Improve Montreal Harbor

May Move Passenger Section Five Miles Eastward

Plans for the complete rebuilding of Montreal harbor were outlined at a meeting of the Montreal harbor commissioners. The plans would allow quicker access from the St. Lawrence river, higher water, dredging in the softer bottom and elimination of the "St. Mary's current."

It was learned the harbor plans will in time move the whole passenger harbor about five miles eastward. The drawings show eight new piers, four of which will be long piers likely accommodating two ships, while in between them are four shorter piers. It is expected the new piers will accommodate about 40 vessels.

Decision to move the harbor farther east, it was learned, came after a statement by Chief Harbor Engineer Paul Leclaire that dredging is a much easier task in the softer bottom further down the river.

Moving of the passenger section eastward, with softer bottom allowing easier dredging which would deepen the water, is expected to bring larger ocean-going ships to Montreal. In time it is hoped to have the channel deepened to 40 feet. The St. Mary's Current, which makes shipping at times hazardous, is practically negligible further down the river, it was stated.

The new harbor development would cut down the time in the run from Quebec to Montreal by about an hour.

SHE PLAYS ORGAN AT 75 YEARS

Takes Kruschen To Keep Rheumatism Away

Writing to tell how she keeps her activity, this wonderful old woman states:—

"My hands were becoming so crippled that I had to give up piano and organ playing—and almost entirely gave up knitting. I have been using Kruschen Salts for nearly two years, and am very pleased with the result. Last August I played two church services on the organ, and hope to do so again this August. My fingers are nearly straight, and quite supple, and I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many people."

The salmineral salts of Kruschen have a direct effect upon the whole bloodstream, neutralizing uric acid, which is the recognized cause of rheumatism. They also restore the eliminating organs to proper working order, and so prevent constipation, thereby checking the further formation of uric acid and other body poisons which undermine the health.

Currency Stabilization

Want Anglo-U.S. Conference To Settle The Question

Stabilization of world currencies was introduced into the budget debate in the British House of Commons by Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the Liberal opposition, and other speakers.

"I wish the chancellor in his report had expressed a desire to secure a measure of stabilization of currency and could have told us some of the reasons for the present position with the United States upon which, fully as much as upon ourselves and France, the decision rests," said Sir Herbert.

"Japan depreciates the yen, America the dollar, Belgium the belga, Britain the pound," Sir Herbert continued. "Depreciation is one of the prime reasons for the low level at which the state of the world continues."

"I regret the chancellor has made no survey of this important factor," Purney Brattwhite, Conservative, echoed Sir Herbert's sentiments.

Dominate Cotton Industry

Japanese Wrestling The Industry From Chinese Control

Japanese commercial expansion in North China has reached the point of almost complete domination of the cotton industry, most important enterprises in the area, with only one mill remaining wholly under Chinese ownership.

Threats of actual military penetration of this region, formerly the seat of the Chinese dynasty, have long since died down, but observers point out the Japanese conquest of the vast territory north of the Yellow river continues with Japanese capitalists, diplomats and business men taking up where the soldiers left off.

Real Market For Seeds

Canada Imports Thousands Of Pounds From Many Countries

Since last July Canada has imported over 1,000,000 pounds of field crop seeds and 937,000 pounds of garden seeds not including flowers. Among the biggest importations are 64,000 pounds of alfalfa seed, 59,000 pounds of blue grass, 32,000 pounds of Cheving's fescue, 465,000 pounds of red clover, 130,000 pounds of red Top, 98,000 pounds of perennial ryegrass, 149,000 pounds of timothy seed, 47,000 pounds of white clover, 64,000 pounds of mangel seed, 57,000 pounds of rape, 722,000 pounds of sugar beet seed, 125,000 pounds of vetches.

In the garden seeds there were 83,000 pounds of beans, 64,000 pounds of beet seed, 70,000 pounds of carrot seed, 125,000 pounds of corn, 15,000 pounds of cucumber seed, 27,000 pounds of lettuce, 28,000 pounds of onion seed, 297,000 pounds of peas, 81,000 pounds of radish, 51,000 pounds of spinach, 14,000 pounds of turnip seeds.

The sources of origin of these seeds is of interest; for instance the peas came chiefly from the United States and the British Isles, but there was also some from France, New Zealand, Holland and Japan. Over four hundred pounds came from Japan. The turnip seed came from the British Isles and the United States and also from Holland, Denmark, Japan and China.

The seed of kohi rabi was collected from the United States, Great Britain, Holland, Denmark and Italy.

The sugar beets came chiefly from Germany, but there were also sizeable amounts from Holland, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Britain, the United States and Denmark.

Spain enters into the picture in the onion seeds as well as the U.S.A., the British Isles, France, Holland, Italy, Japan and China.

Something Went Wrong

English Firm Had Way Of Outwitting Japanese Cunning

They're telling this story in ship-building circles in England.

Some years ago the Japanese admiralty invited a noted English firm to send specifications of a certain type of destroyers renowned for their speed and efficiency. The design was sent, but after a long delay they were returned to the company with expressions of regret and shame—they were sent suitably to the Japanese admiralty. But in due course the Japanese launched several warships which exactly conformed to the British pattern.

About two years ago the Japanese admiralty again asked the same firm to submit plans of a destroyer type. These were sent, were returned with the same apologies as before.

A few months ago a new destroyer was launched which bore a suspicious outward resemblance to the type designed by the British company. But the moment it took to the water, the boat captured.

Wonder how that happened? Anyway, the Japanese are not likely to ask for any more blue-prints.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

At a recent meeting in Nova Scotia of the Potato Marketing Board, members of the retail trade mentioned egg grading, which was introduced in 1923 by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, as an example of what could be accomplished in standardizing a product. This is of particular interest, because some of the members who paid the highest tribute to egg grading had previously been prosecuted for violation of the regulations.

SOAP

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

When fat or oil and alkali are heated together under proper conditions soap and glycerin are produced. Soap is made commercially on a very large scale. The oil or melted fat is poured into huge kettles together with a solution of lye. As a rule the kettles are very large, 500-600 pounds or more of soap being made in some of them in a single heating. They are provided with coils of steam-pipe for heating the liquid. The fat and alkali are stirred by forcing live steam into the bottom of the mixture. The chemical reaction which takes place in soap-making is completed in about one day.

The soap is then suspended as very fine particles in the liquids present, or the chemist would say that the soap is in the form of a colloidal dispersion. To obtain the soap in the solid form common salt is added and this process is known as "salting out." After the salt is added and the mixture heated, the soap rises to the top of the liquid and the soap thus obtained is purified by washing and settling processes and is then run into the mixing machine called the crutcher. Here it is mixed with substances such as perfume, borax, water-glass or washing soda. It is then run into large molds called frames to harden, after which it is cut and pressed into cakes of the desired size.

Transparent soaps are usually made by dissolving dry soap in alcohol and adding from 15 to 25% of sugar. Castile soaps are made of olive oil. The colour of mottled soaps is produced by the addition of Prussian blue or some similar pigment. Floating soaps owe their lightness to bubbles of air and naphtha. The soap contains about 5% of petroleum naphtha. Scouring soaps contain from 5 to 10% of soap and from 80 to 90% of some material such as fine sand or volcanic ash. Soap powders usually consist of a cake of washing soda and ground soap to the extent of 10 to 25%.

Branded As Traitors

Men Who Have Been Found Tampering With Voters' Lists

Men who have been revealed as tamperers of provincial voters' lists in the city of Montreal were branded as traitors to Canada by Rt. Rev. John Farthing, Bishop of Montreal, in his address to the 97th annual session of the synod of the Montreal diocese, Church of England in Canada.

Bishop Farthing expressed alarm no action had been taken against them and there had been no sign of public indignation. He called upon the justice of the law to demand a thorough, impartial judicial inquiry and to take action at the present session of the legislature to amend the law, if legally possible, so the roll could be thoroughly overhauled before the next provincial election.

The value of cut flowers sold in Canada during the year ended May 31, 1934, was $78,203. This amount represents 62 per cent. of the total value of Canada's horticultural and decorative plant production, which includes outdoor roses, outdoor trees, shrubs, plants (outdoor and indoor), and flowering bulbs.

Strange Substance

Produce Hormone That Has Effect Of Taming Wild Animals

Leslie's prophecy that the lion and the lamb shall lie down together and a little child lead them was shown to be a scientific possibility at the American Philosophical Society meeting in Philadelphia.

The chemical substance to tame both animals is available if anyone wants to try it out.

The society was shown motion pictures of a fierce, flesh-eating, grown rat lying down with a new-born squab and trying to mother it. The pictures were shown by Dr. Oscar Riddle, of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

The rat had received an injection of prolactin, a hormone produced by the pituitary glands of human and all mammals, including lions. The rat was an unmated female, with nothing but "wet" nipples, and previous experience with mothering anything.

The prolactin induced immediately a maternal instinct so powerful as to make the rat's natural appetite for eating young square.

Prolactin was discovered three years ago by Dr. Riddle. Previous experiments with it indicate that it acts on all animals in similar fashion.

Its primary function is to cause female mammals to give milk for their young. It has done that even when given to males.

One Cent A Mile Excursions From The East

One-cent-a-mile excursion facilities will be offered between May 15-28 inclusive from points in eastern Canada to the Pacific coast by Canadian railways, it was announced at Montreal.

Offered particularly for easterners wishing to visit western points these trips will include stopover privileges in the west on the going or return trip or both. Return limit is 30 days.

The total value of the imports of bulbs, plants, and shrubs imported into Canada in 1934 amounted to $600,187. The Netherlands supplied 62 per cent. of these imports, the United States, 9.7 per cent; Belgium nearly 7 per cent, and Great Britain under 5 per cent.

MORE FREE HEALTH CLINICS URGED AT CONFERENCE

Ottawa.—The compulsory medical examination of the Canadian people at least once a year looms as a possible recommendation of the first Dominion-provincial health conference which, under the chairmanship of Col. the Hon. D. M. Sutherland, minister of national health, was held here.

Liaised with this was the emphasis placed by all conferees on the need for educating the public in the personal advantages of such annual examination as a preventive measure against sickness.

The first session was occupied in a general discussion on state medicine and health insurance.

A number of important features developed, among them the suggestions by Col. Sutherland for creation of a royal commission, which, some time this fall, might investigate the whole question of state medicine from every standpoint.

Such a commission, he urged, might be representative of medical and allied professions, various industrial groups within the community, financial and insurance interests. Chiefly its function would be to collect data which would be available to the Dominion and provincial administrators when they came to formulate policies dealing with those matters.

Several members of the conference were in agreement with the Dominion minister in the matter of a royal commission. Dr. C. W. Weir, of British Columbia, however, was lukewarm. British Columbia did not like royal commissions, he said.

Hon. R. A. Hoey, of Manitoba, was not opposed to a commission, but believed the information needed could be acquired with existing facilities of provincial health departments.

The conference returned time and again to the matter of educating the public in health matters. Cancer was cited as the disease demanding the most urgent attention.

The public had to get into its mind that the doctor was its friend, said Dr. Weir, while Premier J. P. McMillan, of Prince Edward Island, declared the one big need was for the people to get "cancer conscious."

Members of the conference agreed that medical research should be a Dominion responsibility, but that all educational features should be coordinated and executed by the provinces.

The manner in which this should be carried out was widely canvassed. Hon. Geo. Hoadley, of Alberta, insisted the best medium was the multiplication of free clinics, where people could and should go for examination and advice.

There was a general agreement on that point, supplemented by Mr. Hoey and Dr. J. M. Uhrich, Saskatchewan health minister, that public health nurses who came intimately in contact with people in their own homes could render invaluable services. The normal schools were also media for spreading health education.

Dr. Uhrich paid tribute to the self-sacrifice and devotion of the doctors in Saskatchewan. The King George V. cancer fund was warmly praised in that it would be applied to the awakening of an intelligent public opinion in the matter of health generally.

The Saskatchewan minister declared one of his province's chief problems was the prevalence of tuberculosis among the Indians. The mortality from tuberculosis among these wards of Canada was 600 to 100,000 population, while among the white people the ratio was only 26 to 100,000.

Use Western Grain

Halifax.—The prairie farmer could solve his difficulties partially by balancing grain production so that more animal feed would be produced. M. A. MacPherson, former provincial treasurer and attorney-general of Saskatchewan, declared before the Canadian Club here.

The unfilled market for Canadian bacon in the United Kingdom, the speaker said, held the solution. Pork could be finished in the maritimes, Quebec and Ontario, by the use of western grain.

He urged that both east and west get together to try to bring freight rates to a level where the plan would be practicable. "Our problems are your problems, and we can best solve them together," said Mr. MacPherson.

Search Impossible Just Now

Deep Snow Buries Men Killed In B.C. Slide

Bridge River, B.C.—Recovery of the bodies of several miners from the snowslide which claimed their lives at the Taskeo Mother Lode gold mines north of here, probably during British Columbia's severe January storms, will be impossible for another month, Provincial Constable R. J. Weisman reported on his return from the scene of the tragedy.

Holland and Bill Allaire of Tysa Lake, brother trappers, were members of a search party with Constables Weisman and L. W. Sadler Brown on the gruelling snowshoe trek to the mine from Bridge River after the Allaires had returned to report the mining camp had been wiped out by a slide.

When the constables returned here, they left the Allaires camped at Taskeo lake, waiting an opportunity to recover the bodies. The police were 10 days en route.

Weisman reported a blanket of snow, 15 to 20 feet deep, renders search for the bodies impossible at present.

Automobile Inquiry

Tariff Board To Take Trip Through Western Ontario

Ottawa.—M. N. Campbell, vice-chairman of the tariff board, disclosed that the board will start this week on a trip through western Ontario during which it will visit Windsor, Tilbury and Oshawa in connection with its nation-wide inquiry into the automobile industry.

The board has been empowered to examine officials of companies manufacturing automobiles and parts with a view to determining if justification exists for the difference in price between cars manufactured in Canada and the United States.

In its oil inquiry the board will investigate the general effect on the industry of existing tariff rates and examine the financial structure of companies processing gasoline and other oils. It expects to leave about May 15 for western Canada, arriving in Vancouver in time to hold hearings there May 20 in both investigations. It will meet probably May 27 at Calgary for further hearings in the oil case.

Predict Normal Crop

Prospects For Canadian Wheat Discussed In London

London.—Prospects that the Canadian wheat crop this year would not be above normal and that the United States harvest would be poor, were seen by well-informed circles here.

These and other factors were believed to have helped in raising the London price of wheat. The other factors, these circles said, were:

1. Smaller harvests in Australia and Argentina.
2. The success of Canada's price-maintenance policy.
3. Regulation of French exports.

The Canadian crop is not expected to be above average, lack of moisture preventing a good yield, it was indicated. Heavy rainfall might make a considerable difference, it was conceded, however.

For the third successive year, experts predict, the United States will be unable to export any considerable amount of wheat. Drought and dust storms have seriously damaged the crop.

Infants Recovering

Doctor Says Quintuplets In Excellent Physical Condition

Callander, Ont.—Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne were no longer worried over the condition of their quintuplet daughters. Leo Kervin, Dionne's manager, said the parents were satisfied with the examination of the ailing children by Dr. G. W. Smith of North Bay, appointed by the father. "I know they were satisfied with this last examination," said Mr. Kervin, "for I was speaking to Mr. Dionne." He said the parents had at first wanted two doctors of their own choice to inspect the babies, but were satisfied with the findings of Dr. Smith.

Dr. Smith pronounced the infants recovering from head colds and remarked on their excellent physical condition. He was in consultation at the hospital with Dr. Allan Roy Duff, physician to the quintuplets, and commended the splendid care that had been given the children.

WOULD EXTEND DELIVERY DATE FOR MAY WHEAT

Winnipeg.—An offer to consider extension of the date beyond which he would demand delivery of all May wheat purchases in the Winnipeg grain futures market was held out to the grain trade by John I. McFarland, head of the government wheat agency. Deferment in delivery date would be effected through transfer of hedges to a more distant month.

In a letter to the grain exchange council, Mr. McFarland said the government "was willing to co-operate with bona fide owners of cash wheat hedged in the May option" to the extent of assisting in the transfer of hedges from May to July. He also expressed a willingness to pay storage of 1½ cents a bushel to carry such hedges.

It became clear, however, the government has not entirely abandoned its plan to assume ownership of considerable quantities of wheat before May 31 and for which it holds contracts. The approximate amount of wheat involved for tender against May contracts is estimated at more than 55,000,000 bushels.

The proposal modified to a certain extent a previous announcement the agency would demand delivery of all May wheat it had purchased in the Winnipeg market. Proof of ownership would entitle the second party to the contract to consideration when the wheat not required until July is distributed.

In a signed statement Mr. McFarland said: "The time has now arrived when we wish to co-operate with all bona fide owners of cash wheat hedged in the May option and located in various positions so that we may assist to the best of our ability in the switching of hedges from May to July."

"Owners who now have their wheat hedged in July will not be interested but all others will forward to us full particulars of quantity and location as specified so that we may be enabled to determine an equitable distribution."

"The spread will be made on a basis of July at 1½ cents over May and the information you send must be computed as at the close of business on April 27."

Increase In Prizes

Calgary.—Increase in prizes in all livestock classes at the 1935 Calgary exhibition and stampede has been announced by General Manager E. L. Richardson, following a meeting of livestock committees. The increases, which in some cases almost doubled the prize, were made possible by enlargement of the Dominion government grant from $2,500 to $5,000 and by donations from the various breed societies.

Lithuania Increases Army

Government Acts When German Troops Sent To Border

Kaunas.—Because Germany has concentrated four divisions of troops in east Prussia, bordering Lithuania on the west, the government here announced plans for an increase in its own artillery, tank and air units, together with the complete motorization of its army.

Owing to the tense border situation the government already had issued a decree holding the present military class in service for an extra three months.

Fear Heavier Death Toll

Medical aid and supplies are being rushed to the stricken areas, and efforts are underway to re-establish communication.

Talchuk, Persia.—Official reports from the earthquake area said 3,885 victims of the catastrophe have been buried and more than 10,000 injured given hospital or first aid treatment. Government hospitals at Shincichu and Talchuk are filled. Scores of first aid stations set up in tents also are operating in the district.

The medal was awarded to Dr. Plaskett "in recognition of his able and constant labors in stellar radial velocities, and related studies energetically pursued for nearly 30 years."

NEED CONFERENCE ON TRADE AND FOREIGN POLICIES

London.—Unofficial complaints were voiced on behalf of manufacturers and the grain trade against Canada for alleged failure to live up to the Ottawa agreements, along with a demand for an imperial conference to discuss not only trade but foreign policy and imperial defense.

The labor opposition organ, The Daily Herald, announced that a lively storm was developing among the British and dominion governments over the Ottawa agreements.

The report of the Liverpool Corn Trade Association said Canada had forfeited her right to imperial preference and the grain trade against Canada for alleged failure to live up to the Ottawa agreements, along with a demand for an imperial conference to discuss not only trade but foreign policy and imperial defense.

The Daily Mail, another opposition paper, expressed belief Europe was drifting into the pre-war alliance system and said an imperial conference should be called while the empire leaders are here for a royal jubilee, to discuss all questions of imperial concern.

It added if the dominions were found opposed to British commitments at Locarno—reaffirmed with France and Italy last week—then Great Britain should denounce it.

Indications however, were that if defence matters or foreign policy do come up, they will be the subject of only informal talks with British ministers. (In Ottawa Premier G. W. Forbes of New Zealand said: "We do not have to discuss those things and earlier Prime Minister Bennett said there was nothing to discuss in London so far as Canada is concerned.")

Naturally, trade questions will crop up in talks between various governmental heads during their visit here. On questions of British foreign policy and imperial defence the dominions, of course, are always kept advised by the United Kingdom government. The united Franco-British-Italian front at Stresa and in the council of the league which condemned German re-armament, led The Daily Mail, with other opposition organs, to express apprehensions, however, lest the United Kingdom alienate the dominions.

Pointing out that British obligations under the Locarno treaty (with France, Germany, Belgium and Italy) were reaffirmed at Stresa, The Daily Mail said: "Unless the dominions are with us in this matter, the liabilities attaching to the Locarno treaty would be of the utmost peril to imperial unity. No dominion could remain neutral unless it were to secede. It is therefore imperatively necessary to test dominion opinion thoroughly. If it is against the Locarno treaty then there can be only one course for the British government—the treaty will have to be denounced."

The federal minister stressed co-operation would be necessary between the dominion, provincial and municipal authorities.

JUBILEE PROGRAM TO BE BROADCAST FOR 6 HOUR PERIOD

Ottawa.—The Canadian Radio Commission announced it will broadcast May 6 in connection with King George's silver jubilee celebration a series of six programs, three from London, including one in which the king will be heard. The broadcast will last six hours, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. (C.S.T.).

The program will open with ceremonies on Parliament Hill in Ottawa when the voices of the governor-general, acting Prime Minister Sir George Perley, Liberal leader Mackenzie King and a massed choir will be heard. Listeners will hear also the chimes of the famous Peace tower carillon and a 21-gun royal salute.

Starting at 10 a.m. C.S.T. the nation will hear 90 minutes of a program called "Canada in 1935" on which lieutenant-governors of the nine provinces will speak and bands from provincial capitals will be heard. The bands will join in a massed playing of "O Canada" and "The Maple Leaf Forever," led by a keymaster at Ottawa.

One of the nation's oldest citizens will recall pioneer days in Canada and will be joined in two-way conversation with one of the country's youngest citizens. They will meet for the first time on the broadcast.

From Kingville, Ont., Jack Miner will speak from his bird sanctuary and imitate calls of various birds. During the same broadcast Victoria will be linked for the first time by catwalk to the commission's national network on an interview with Audrey Alexandra Brown, widely known invalid Canadian poet. Miss Brown will read a poem she has written especially for the occasion.

From Halifax Captain Angus Walters, skipper of the famous Bluenose, North Atlantic's champion schooner, will talk to the nation. The champion farmer of Quebec will be interviewed from Montreal. A famous prospector will speak from Toronto.

From the prairies the commission will carry the voice of Dr. Seager Wheeler of Rosthern, Sask., wheat king a quarter of a century ago. A pioneer British Columbia lumber man will be interviewed at Vancouver, and a reporter will do a man-on-the-street interview in the heart of Montreal's business district.

From 11:30 a.m. to 1:05 p.m. a broadcast of ceremonies in London will be heard. The king will speak and messages of loyalty from persons throughout the empire will be broadcast.

The program will jump back across the Atlantic to Canada for "Canadian Cavalcade," a dramatic review of events in the Dominion over the last quarter century. From 2 p.m. to 3 p.m., Rudyard Kipling, famous soldier poet, will be heard in an address from London. His speech will be followed by a broadcast of a theatrical performance in St. Paul's Cathedral at which the king and queen will be present.

Drouth Problems

Survey To Be Made Of Three Prairie Provinces

Winnipeg.—Federal minister of agriculture Hon. Robert Weir had his first conference with a prairie government here on plans for the drouth area rehabilitation project.

Mr. Weir spent a day in conference with Manitoba Premier John Bracken and Manitoba cabinet ministers, discussing personnel of the advisory committee on drouth problems and the four-fold scheme proposed to combat the arid land.

It was learned the Manitoba cabinet recommended Professor J. H. Ellis, soil expert of the University of Manitoba, as the province's representative on the committee. The university board of governors will have to approve the appointment, an expected development.

Mr. Weir told the Manitoba officials of the survey to be made of the three prairie provinces between May 5 and May 15 by experts with a view to constructing dams and dykes to conserve water supplies; treating soil to prevent drifting; establishing demonstration and experimentation areas.

The federal minister stressed co-operation would be necessary between the dominion, provincial and municipal authorities.

A college professor has singled out "gubernatorial" as the ugliest word in the English language. He says it is clumsy, awkward and unmusical. It is a mouthful for a trained speaker and almost impossible to the man inclined to stutter. But another man has found a word he considers still uglier. He says it is too tricky to spell and almost impossible of pronunciation.
